More passkey improvements!

Attestation support for iOS and Android

- Set Enforce attestation to Yes.

When attestation is enabled in the passkey (FIDO) policy, Microsoft Entra ID tries to verify the legitimacy of the passkey being created. When the user is registering a passkey in the Authenticator, attestation verifies that the legitimate Microsoft Authenticator app created the passkey by using Apple and Google services. Here's more details:

- iOS: Authenticator attestation uses the iOS App Attest service to ensure the legitimacy of the Authenticator app before registering the passkey.

ⓘ Note

Support for registering passkeys in Authenticator when attestation is enforced is currently rolling out to iOS Authenticator app users. Support for registering attested passkeys in Authenticator on Android devices is available to all users in the latest version of the app.

Authentication method settings migration

OverviewReview + migrate

Authentication method policies

If a method is enabled in either legacy MFA or SSPR policy, it'll be enabled in the authentication methods policy. If a user is in scope for a method, they may use it to authenticate and for password reset (some methods aren't supported for some scenarios).
Learn more

As part of migrating your authentication methods, we recommend enabling passkeys and temporary access pass for users to leverage the most seamless and secure methods for authentication and recovery. See passkey-settings for the latest on which passkeys are enabled by default

Method	Status	Targeted users & groups	Security
Passkey (FIDO2) RECOMMENDED	On	All users	 High security
Temporary access pass RECOMMENDED	On	All users	 High security
Microsoft Authenticator (push & passwordless) RECOMMENDED	On	All users	 High security
Hardware OATH tokens	On	All users	 Medium security
Third-party software OATH tokens	Off		 Medium security
Email OTP	Off		 Low security
SMS	On	All users	 Low security
Voice call	Off		 Low security
